Lincoln International's Global Industrial Group

Lincoln International recognizes the importance of understanding a client's industry, value drivers, growth opportunities and challenges. With over 100 completed advisory assignments within the industrial space over the past three years, our professionals have developed an expertise in this area that is unmatched by any other mid-market M&A advisor.

Our dedicated Global Industrial Group consists of highly experienced senior bankers. These officers have spent the majority of their careers developing deep professional relationships in the industry and specific knowledge of our three key areas of focus: niche manufacturing, value-added distribution, and growing end markets.

With officers in each of our eight global offices working together within the industrial space, Lincoln International provides key senior-level experience, insights and contacts in support of clients on a worldwide basis on every transaction.
